Porsche 356 SC Conv.

1965

Gallery

We know this sports car quite well, because during her last ownership this Porsche 356 SC Convertible was for more than 10 years a common sight in the Belgian classic car club scene. The last owner used this Porsche for big rallies abroad, because of the phenomenal practicality and reliability of this classic convertible. Being a last series 1600 SC model, this Porsche offers very good performances (95 HP) from the engine and improved road manners thanks to the all round disc brakes. Good to know is also that chassis (161199) and engine (P*821165) numbers are still matching. Well looked after during all these years, the overall presentation is still excellent, although some typically sensitive areas show now they will need some attention in the future.
