Chassis LML 50/374 I was very keen to buy this very rare LHD DB2 Convertible. This Aston Martin resided most of its' life in Indiana-USA,and came back to the old continent very recently. After inspection in my specialised workshop, this DB2 Convertible, proved to be surprisingly sound. The chassis has been freshly painted not so long ago. The aluminium body has very straight panels and perfect shut gaps for bonnet, doors and spare wheel lid. No signs of filler at all. We checked the engine and found this matching number unit to be totally overhauled. What an excellent surprise ! The Aston Martin factory file informes us that the car is still in its original colour combination of cream paintwork with green upholstery. It would be very straightforward to bring this ultra rare DB2 back to perfect original condition for an Aston Martin enthusiast asking us to do so. Could this be you ?
