What a pleasure for me to be able to present this beauty to the classic car community ! This original LHD Aston Martin Convertible just comes out of a 2 year in-house full restoration. Usually my team is very proud to see the final result after all this work and also a little bit sad because it means that at the same time the owner, who waited patiently all these months for the restoration to be finalised, will hurry now to come and take his freshly restored car away and finally start driving his pride and joy. In this case however the owner in the meantime got madly in love with (an expensive) Lamborghini Miura SV and... asked me to offer his Aston Martin up for sale...! I found chassis LML/833 in a half dismantled condition approximatively 2 years ago in Holland. A British Motor Industry Heritage Trust Certificate confirmed this was an originally LHD DB2/4 MKI Convertible. One of my loyal classic car customers bought this Aston Martin on the spot and asked me to restore this car for him from the chassis upwards strictly respecting the cars original specifications. You can admire the result on these photographs. Don't you agree she just looks stunning in the magnificent original color combination of Moonbeam Grey with red leather interior? I simply know I will not often be able to offer on the classic car market a hard to source original LHD Aston Martin DB2/4 Convertible in what can be described as virtually brand-new condition! I am sure you agree... Enough to seize this opportunity?
