6 cylinder - 3 liter Chassis : LML 727 Aston Martins are all limited production cars. The convertible versions available on the market are rather rare. Find with this knowledge in mind an original LHD example is a terific bonus. And when additionally the car has the superb history being the car which starred in Hitchcock's cult film "The Birds" I, as an enthusiast classic car dealer, believed that moment heaven was earth and I an angel ! On the photographs, you will agree this convertible Aston is a dreamcar. "In the flesh" I can assure you it absolutely is ! Super straight body-lines in perfect dark green finish. Black leather upholstery with just a little bit of lovely patina. This car has additionally superb wood veneer on dashboard, doorcappings and steering wheel. Hood, hoodcover and tonneau cover are in super quality double duck green mohair. Engine bay is in spotless condition, showing a superb maintained overall mechanical condition. This DB 2/4 convertible drives as good as it looks! The previous English and German owners have spent a fortune to obtain this A1 general condition. A huge file with lots and lots of invoices illustrates this clearly. Sold new in 1954 to Jules Stein, of Santa Monica Boulevard, Beverly Hills, California, this owner of the MCA actor's studios lent his car in 1963 to filmdirector Alfred Hitchcock and actress Tippi Hedren for what would become a cult film : "The Birds". This way LML 727 obtained a truly magnificent and glamorous pedigree. Coul you be the next step in the hall of fame of this unique Aston Martin ?
